Update on Street Signs

ENONAC recently sent a request for follow up on missing street signs to Robert Mendoza, the city's Director of Public Works, who attended the last ENONAC general meeting. ENONAC expressed frustration that most of the requests went through the 311 system but when someone calls for a status, no one can provide information on what the status is.

The current street signs that are missing and previously had been reported are: Lake Willow and West Haven - Sign missing Thornley Dr.; Mayo and Spring Lake (the association has the sign but no post); Newcastle and Coventry; Yield Sign on Morrison Near Gas Station going East on Morrison Road.

The following information was received on April 22, 2010 from Kensley Evans, Communications Specialist, with MWH.

Mayo / Spring Lake - Street name signs at this location were installed last Saturday.

Newcastle / Coventry - Signs were received in the last sign order and will be installed either this weekend or next weekend.

Yield Sign on Morrison - Yield sign will be replaced in the next couple of days.

Lake Willow / West Haven (Thornley Drive sign) - Signs are included in the third New Orleans East sign order, which should be received in the next four weeks and will be installed as soon as they are received.

If you are aware of any additional missing street signs, you can send an e-mail to ENONAC at info@ENONAC.org.

From the City Council April 22, 2010 Regular Meeting

Supported Continued Use of Michoud Facility

Councilmember-at-Large
Fielkow

The Council passed Resolution R-10-185, authored by Councilmember Fielkow, calling on the Obama administration to ensure that public and private entities, including NASA, continue using the Michoud facility for the manufacture of projects related to space exploration and other complementary growth industries, and hiring local skilled workers in the process.

The NASA manufacturing facility at Michoud in New Orleans East has provided thousands of skilled jobs in the space industry to local citizens primarily employed by Lockheed Martin. NASA's involvement with the facility going forward is uncertain as a result of the termination of the shuttle program.

In preparation for the cessation of the space shuttle program, NASA supplemented Lockheed Martin's activities at the Michoud facility and is working to recruit other businesses to the site.

Council President Arnie Fielkow said, "This Council is joining Louisiana's congressional delegation in requesting a stronger commitment from the Obama administration that NASA will remain at Michoud. This commitment will stimulate greater interest from private businesses contemplating a move to Michoud, further stimulating economic development in New Orleans East."

Addressed Presentation on Emergency Medical Services

At the request of Councilmember Willard-Lewis, Dr. Juliette Saussy, Director of New Orleans Emergency Medical Services (EMS), appeared before the Council to respond to the Monday, March 22, 2010 shutdown of I-10 and the availability of emergency medical services to and from New Orleans East.

On Monday March 22nd, an 18-wheeler tanker truck carrying liquid petroleum overturned on I-10 by the Chef Menteur exit, causing the Interstate to shut down for several hours. The accident alarmed community members who became concerned about the availability of EMS to and from New Orleans East and the response time of EMS when I-10, which is often used to access New Orleans East, is inaccessible.

Dr. Saussy reassured the Council that all emergencies requiring EMS in New Orleans East were handled in an efficient manner while I-10 was shut down. Dispatched emergency medical vehicles used alternate access points to enter the neighborhood and serviced the area while debris from the accident was being cleared from I-10.

District "E" Councilmember Cynthia Willard-Lewis said, "It is extremely important that there are adequate emergency medical services for all New Orleans communities. As a Council, we must support EMS and provide the agency with the necessary resources so it can continue to serve our City as efficiently as possible."
